Nixon Selects Official Photos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has selected three official photos of himself—two smiling and one more serious.

The unsmiling one will be displayed in government offices in the United States and abroad and in post offices, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Thursday.

The photos were taken on Nixon's 56th birthday, Jan. 9, in New York by Philippe Halsman. Ziegler said Halsman, 62, was selected "because of his reputation as a fine commercial photographer." He has contributed to such magazines as Vogue, Life and Look.

2nd Day of Heavy Blows by Bombers

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers laid a carpet of nearly 5,000 bombs along a huge arc northwest to northeast of Saigon in a second day of heavy blows at Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bases threatening the capital, military spokesmen reported today.

Anticipating that the Communist command might try to pull off a spectacular attack to coincide with the Tet celebration of the lunar new year Monday, the U.S. Command gave top priority to the Saigon approaches. More than 1,200 tons of bombs were dropped on base camps, troop concentrations and supply depots, spokesmen said.

The targets ranged from 28 miles northeast of Saigon to 75 miles northwest of the capital. The heaviest concentration of bombs crashed down along the jungled corridors leading from the Cambodian frontier. Some of the strikes were only six miles from the border.

In the past 48 hours since noon Wednesday, the giant saturation bombers have dropped 2,520 tons of explosives on suspected base sites from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese could mount attacks on Saigon or military installations around the capital.

Although the Viet Cong is scheduled to begin a week's cease-fire at 7 a.m. Saturday (6 p.m. EST Friday) for Tet, Radio Hanoi today broadcast a battle order for the new year calling on Viet Cong troops and guerrillas to "launch new simultaneous attacks, increase military pressure on all fronts, kill all pacification teams and liquidate the criminals and traitors that make up the puppet regime."

The order from Viet Cong's military command said the war effort against the United States and the South Vietnamese government "must be intensified to insure that the new year is the most glorious and most victorious in our history."

Despite the approaching enemy cease-fire, U.S. and South Vietnamese commanders were taking no chances. Increased enemy activities this week heightened speculation that the Viet Cong might try something spectacular during Tet, although senior U.S. officers said earlier in the week that major enemy units were not in position to repeat last year's holiday offensive against Saigon.

to the pound and started returning him to us instead.

Not merely an ardent chaser, Tiger was an effective lover. Of all the dogs that used to gather at Dooley Schneider's house when Minnie was in heat, only Tiger was welcomed. We wish now we had accepted one of the pups that came along later.

As Tiger grew older, his adventures were spaced more widely, and he spent more time drowsing on the front hall rug.

But even at the age of 12 the old excitement would sometimes come upon him.

He would tremble and abstain from food until he could get out and away. His last fling therefore caused us no immediate alarm. Tiger was out on the town for the night, so what? It had happened scores of times before. But when morning came, we found him lying on his side at the end of the front walk. He had barely made it home, after a heart attack.

We buried Tiger in the vacant lot by the side of our house. There was no service, but Dooley Schneider provided the epitaph. She said:

"He was the sexiest dog in town."

Hughes Buys More Mining Claims

ELY, Nev. (AP) — Industrialist Howard Hughes has purchased 15 mining claims near the Utah border, papers filed with the county recorder showed Thursday. No purchase price was indicated. Rising prices for gold and silver reportedly has sparked Hughes' interest in mining claims long ago were considered worked out.

Mafia Chief Has Died in Prison

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vito Genovese, a diminutive Italian who became the nation's most notorious underworld figure of the 1950s, died today at the medical center for federal prisoners in Springfield, Mo.

The Justice Department said death at 2:30 a.m. EST resulted from congestive heart failure for which the 71-year-old Mafia chieftain had been undergoing treatment for more than two months.

Genovese was serving a 15-year sentence for trafficking in narcotics—the only major charge on which the government was ever able to convict him despite numerous arrests. He was indicted 13 times.

But even in prison, Genovese's power in La Cosa Nostra, or the Mafia, was so immense that federal agents suspected him of continuing to run the far-flung crime syndicate.

Once called "King of the Racketeers" by former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, he emerged as the Mafia's dominant figure in the mid-1950s after reputedly ordering the assassinations of two major rivals, Frank Costello and Albert Anastasia.

An attempt on Costello's life failed, and Genovese's bodyguard, tried for attempted murder, was acquitted after Costello testified he had never seen the accused assailant before.

Treasury Department agents arrested Genovese and 14 others in 1958 on charges of conspiring to import narcotics. He was found guilty the following year. Since 1960, the Bureau of Prisons has attempted to curtail Genovese's Mafia contacts by systematically transferring him from one federal institution to another.

While in the Atlanta prison, however, he was assigned to a cell with Joseph Valachi, a New York hoodlum who was a trusted Mafia member.

In the apparently mistaken belief that Valachi had turned informer, Genovese gave him the "kiss of death," La Cosa Nostra's notification to a member that he has offended its rules and will be slain.

It was then that Valachi decided, according to the Justice Department, to tell federal agents—and later a Senate committee—about internal workings of the super-secret crime society.

Brian Avery, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Avery, 1238 E. Romney Drive, Anaheim, California, received his Eagle Scout badge February 8, 1969, in a special ceremony held at the East Anaheim United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery and sons Steve and Brian were former residents of Hope, and both boys attended Paisley School.

Their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Avery reside at Route No. 3, Prescott, Arkansas. The grandparents were unable to attend the special ceremony but received from their grandson an Eagle Scout tie-bar and pin.

be required." He also said the "funds involved will not be held in escrow for the districts."

The secretary acted against the districts under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which prohibits federal assistance to any program or activity that discriminates on the basis of race, color or national origin.

Each of the districts adopted so-called "freedom of choice" desegregation plans that allow each pupil within the district to attend the school of his choice, white or Negro.

The government maintains that the "freedom of choice" plans adopted in the districts resulted only in token integration without eliminating the traditional Southern dual school system.

A major radio speech Oct. 20, two weeks before the election, was devoted to education. Without mentioning integration at all, Nixon called for federal support of schools by bloc grants to the states "administered at the state and local levels."

"What our communities want from Washington," he said, "is not dictation but constructive counsel and sorely needed assistance."

This week's actions, however, followed Nixon remarks at a Feb. 6 news conference when he spelled out clearly what the policy would be.

"If freedom of choice is found to be simply a subterfuge to perpetuate segregation, then funds should be denied to such a school system," he said. "If a freedom of choice plan, however, is found to be one which actually is bringing an end to segregation, then a freedom of choice plan, in my opinion, is appropriate and should receive funds."

By PETE YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — About 600 student revolutionaries plan to charge up the steps of the Arkansas Capitol Feb. 17, chanting at Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers, who learned of the plot, plans to introduce a resolution before the General Assembly that the legislators help Rockefeller man the stone staircase.

The students, traveling in a caravan of 15 buses, plan to cover the entire state in an effort to recruit more youths to their movement, "Up with People."

Reports indicate they will be disguised as clean-cut American kids with a song in their collective heart. But a scout for the throng said, "We're as much revolutionaries as (Eldridge) Cleaver."

Judy Ahrens, 20, of San Antonio, Tex., Judy Morgan, 19, of San Diego, and Barbara Black, 18, of Swainsboro, Ga., explained to The Associated Press the motivation for the assault on Arkansas.

"We were invited," explained Miss Morgan, a bubbly, attractive, every way from her smile to her way of dress.

The 600 college and high school students represent three regiments of songsters who have roamed the world, some for as many as three years, "making people real" with singing.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller issued the invitation to the group to tour Arkansas with its message "and here we are," said Miss Morgan.

Their message, expressed through song, is that people are individuals, capable of shaping their destiny, and that people need to answer this call of freedom by building toward the future and not just living for the moment.

That bit of mumbo-jumbo would grate the ulcers of every confirmed cynic in the world but a brief discussion with members of the group likely would lead cynics to bend over backward to help a cause that just might make it.

"Up with People" begins its tour of Arkansas Feb. 17 with a spectacular display on the lawn of the state Capitol. The students plan to unload, running off their buses all at once and, singing their theme song, converge on the capital steps.

Rockefeller plans to greet the group along with the legislature and wish them well on their state tour, which includes visits to 24 cities and at least 10 college campuses.

"Up with People" hopes to recruit as many Arkansans as possible to its movement and establish its chapters throughout the state. It already represents 70,000 youth around the world with 500 regional programs.

Chapters established in Arkansas would contribute themselves to local, regional and national sing-ins as "the vanguard of creative change and the catalyst of constructive energy."

Songs used as the medium of expression by the group are written and arranged by "Up with People" and are on current topics and social problems and attitudes towards them.

"I could give a speech and no one would listen," Miss Ahrens said. "But everyone listens to our songs."

"It was so frustrating to want to do something and not know what to do about the way things are," Miss Morgan said. "I wanted to affect change but I couldn't see student riots and hippies."

"Involvement," Miss Ahrens said, "is how we can serve not only ourselves but the whole world. It's a drop in, not drop out."

Membership in "Up with People" consists of youths from all races, creeds and nationalities. It's financed by "handouts from businessmen" around the world and by local patrons.

Housing, while in Arkansas, will be furnished by willing families in cities where they visit. Persons interested in helping can contact Mrs. Betty Rogers of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission at Little Rock.

While traveling in Europe last summer, Miss Ahrens recalls living in Italian homes "where they just never have guests unless the visitors are close relatives."

But they did for "Up with People" and recommended the youths to other Italians in other cities making accommodations easier to come by for the group.

"We sometimes have to sit down with dictionaries to talk with people in different lands," Miss Morgan said. "It's a game of charades."

But there is no communication gap between the group and its audience, the girls said. Instead, everyone feels the same way about their fellow man. They just don't know how to go about finding this out.

Communication is another facet of "Up with People"—language-wise. Each of the three groups is specializing in learning either Spanish, French or Italian.

They give all of their concerts in the native language of the country they are visiting but they are also learning while on tour one of the three languages as part of their schooling.

While on the road, the students are accompanied by teachers and tutors, with some of the members carrying correspondence courses with their home-state colleges.

Though seeming starry-eyed and idealistic, the group seems to be at grips with telling and Democratic leader of the California State Assembly who rode with the policemen taking Sirhan to jail.

"I did it for my country," the prosecutor quoted Sirhan.

"Why him, he was trying to help?" Fitts continued the narrative and added that Sirhan replied: "It's too late, too late."

And when the question was put for the third time by policemen Fitts said Sirhan answered: "Do you think I'm crazy, so you can use it in evidence against me."

While Fitts, a distinguished looking gray-haired man addressed the jury, Sirhan sat with his chin cupped in his right hand. He paid rapt attention, smiling occasionally, seemingly relaxed. Several times he arched his eyebrows, as if to question a point.

His tiny, gray-haired mother sitting in the front row, wept softly when the prosecutor's chronology came to the slaying. She sat with 21-year-old Munir Sirhan, another of her five sons. In her lap was a small notebook in which she made notes in Arabic.

There is an over-all shortage of more than 170,000 teachers in the United States, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

At Duke the demonstrators were backing Negro demands for a black studies program under Negroes' control and an end to what they called the 8,000-student Methodist-supported university's "racist policies."

The clash between students and police came after 30 to 40 of the school's 100 Negro students ended a 10-hour occupation of the administration building.

In Berkeley Thursday's clash marked a continuation of an effort by a coalition of minority student groups which has been trying to close the campus for more than a month. They demand a minority studies college be established.

Value Showdown:

Match these features against what competition gives you for the same kind of money, and you'll have a better idea why more people are buying Chevrolets again this year.

Built-in "guard rails"

There's a strong steel beam built into every door of every 1969 Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate Wagon, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

We call it a side guard beam, and it looks like one of those guard rails you see along the freeway.

That's what it's there for: To guard you. To strengthen the door and put a more solid wall between you and the outside world.

Not a glamorous feature. But you'll have to admit worthwhile.

Computer-selected springs

Maybe you'll order your new Chevy equipped to the hilt. Or maybe you'll order it with hardly anything on it.

Either way, you're going to get your full measure of our renowned ride. Because we go to the trouble of programming each car's equipment load into an electronic computer.

The computer then tells us exactly which springs to use, depending on the car's weight and the way it's distributed. Chevrolet, the only car in its field with computer-selected springs.

Fenders inside fenders
We could have skipped this. (The other cars in our field do.) But we're as anxious as you are to keep your beautiful new Chevy looking beautiful and new.

So: Up inside the regular fenders we've placed a second set.

They do all the in-fighting. Catch all the splashed-up rain, slush and road salt. Stop the kicked-up stones.

While your "outers" just sit there looking pretty.

Astro Ventilation

The other two cars in our field give you air intakes down by the floor.

So do we. We also give you two up on the instrument panel.

And all four of them are adjustable so you can regulate the flow of air just the way you like it.

Even with all the windows closed, you'll be comfortable inside. You get air without wind. Without noise.

Astro Ventilation is standard, now, on all the big Chevrolets.

The theft-thwarter
On the steering column there's a lock. Only Chevrolet has it, in Chevrolet's field. You turn the key and it locks three things: Your ignition. Your steering wheel. Your shift lever.

When you own a car this tempting, you don't dare take chances.

Biggest standard V8 in our field

Ask any car enthusiast, he'll tell you: Chevrolet builds great engines. Especially V8s.

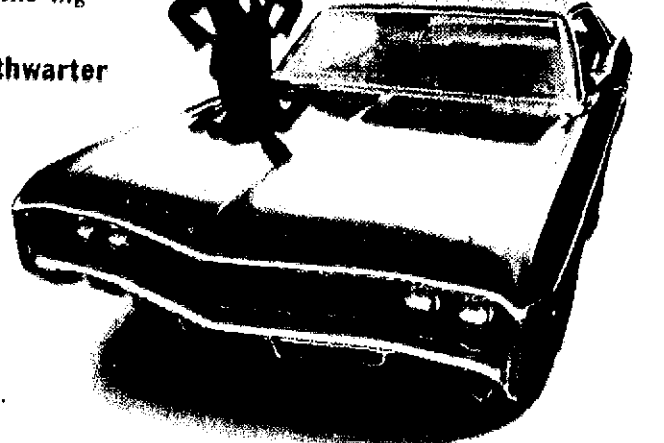

And this year there are six great V8s available for the big Chevrolet. Standard. Our 235-hp 327-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire.

Another thing: We've lowered the price of several of our bigger V8s along with our automatic transmissions and power disc brakes. Which makes it possible for you to buy a '69 Chevrolet for even less money than you could last year.

Show up for our Showdown. You can't lose.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. W.E. White was hostess for the Heritage Bridge Club, when it met on February 13 at the Heritage House. After a delicious luncheon, bridge was played at 3 tables.

High scorer was Mrs. Herbert Burns and second high was Mrs. Emma Hatley. Winners of the consolation prize and the game prize were Mrs. R.P. Barlow and Mrs. C.P. Tolleson, respectively. Mrs. Thomas Hays was a club guest.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Peterson took Mrs. Charles Briant to Shreveport Wednesday, from where she flew to Baton Rouge, La., to visit her sister, Mrs. Guy Linaker.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hosmer, Miss Jack Porter, and Mrs. David Griffin went to see "Camelot" in Little Rock on Monday.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Between TV's "Davy Crockett" and "Daniel Boone," it is understandable that most young Americans under 20 believe that two legendary American heroes had the face and figure of a tall, serious-minded actor named Fess Parker.

The NBC series, "Daniel Boone" which has been in an early Thursday evening time slot for a long time, with a big loyal following that includes a lot of young viewers, has been renewed for next season.

It takes enormous liberties with Colonial American history and over the past four seasons has made it appear that Dan'l, almost single-handedly, won the Revolutionary War.

The most recent episode pretty much ignored Daniel, and was built around his latest sidekick, a trapper named Josh Clements. Josh is played by Jimmy Dean, a country-Western singer who takes a stab at comedy, country style.

For the first few seasons, Daniel's sidekick was an Indian in warpaint who had a college degree and used big words and careful correct English. But Ed Ames, who played the part, left the show. Dean brings it something quite different—broad comedy. He also murders the language. In fact, it is a toss-up whether Marshall Dillon's Fess in "Gunsmoke" or Daniel's Josh sets the worst example of sloppy speech for the youthful audience.

The plot Thursday was pretty slim. Josh received word that a rich uncle had died and left him the estate. The show is so casual in its historical references that Josh was referring to himself as a "millionaire," a word that hardly had much circulation in the Kentucky backwoods in post-Revolutionary days. But, shucks, one of the characters in an earlier episode was heard to

Adult Sewing Classes Are Planned

Adult education sewing classes, to be instructed by Mrs. Joe Harmon, will begin the first Monday night in March and continue for five weeks.

The sessions will be from 7-9 p.m., each Monday night in the Hope High School Home Economics cottage.

These classes are open to any person not in high school for the purpose of learning how to sew. Also, new sewing techniques will be introduced.

"Your fabric is the only cost of the course. Also, you do not have to attend all sessions," Mrs. Harmon explained.

Each year as a part of the adult education program sponsored by the government, Mrs. Harmon instructs these classes. This year, members of the Future Homemakers of America will be volunteer babysitters.

Anyway, Josh found that he had inherited a slave and some land. The show tried more for laughs than thrills—Dean at one point was running around in long underwear that on my set looked pale pink. There was some moralizing, too. After the slave had been in a boxing match and taken quite a beating, Josh freed him and proposed to give him the land. And everybody trooped back to the Boone house for a jolly turkey dinner.

The second program of ABC's "What's It All About, World?" seems to still be floundering around looking for a format and a point of view. But at least it did not abound with gratuitous and largely unfunny cracks as the premiere did.

Carl Reiner did an amusing impression of Maurice Chevalier, Dick Clair and Jenna Mahon had a sketch featuring a nagging wife. There was a series of slapstick sketches designed to show the stormy course of U.S.-Russian relations—and it didn't come off very well. Dean Jones sang pleasantly. And Mario Thomas had two awkward but well-intentioned serious pieces. One tried to link up a box of candy—and integration, of all things, and the other was a memoir to Abraham Lincoln, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the two Kennedy brothers.

The show is mostly Vaudeville, but suffers from lack of style and pace. The result, alas, was not very stimulating.

Jimmy Durante will star with the singing Lennon Sisters next season in a weekly variety series for ABC. The Lennon sisters had been set for some time, and Durante—who is 75—was added later, and created a title problem. The unwieldy result is "Jimmy Durante Presents the Lennon Sisters Hour," which, one hopes, will be changed before the premiere.

the town clerk in Windsor, Conn., is waiving the $5 marriage license fee for any couple who comes in on Feb. 14. "We have to take care of Cupid," said the assistant clerk, Mrs. Ann S. Lee.

Cupid struck a long time ago for Clyde and Fannie Ransom of Aztec. They were married on Valentine's Day 73 years ago in a northern New Mexico lumber camp. They are the town's oldest valentine sweethearts. Ransom is 94, his wife 93.

Junior valentines haven't been forgotten, however. Students at the Markham Grade School in Portland, Ore., can get a singing valentine delivered anywhere in the school for only 15 cents.

The singers are members of teacher Floyd Riley's class who are supporting a seven-year-old Vietnamese orphan. In addition to the singing offer, the students made comic valentines for sale to schoolmates. They made $11 in one day.

Across the country, an advertisement appeared under public notices in the New York Times. It read: "Mrs. B. Hudes. A very happy and healthy Valentine's Day from all of us. Class 5-2 P.S. 173 Queens."

Valentine's Day is the end of a busy round of activities for Warren Thompson. He's the postmaster of Loveville, Md., one of several appropriately named cities throughout the country which get requests for special postmarks for cards and letters.

For the past week, Thompson has been taking mail sent to him and providing the appropriate bow-and-arrow postmark. He says he'd like to have a heart-shaped postmark, but has been turned down by federal postal authorities.

To Cure a Cold Britain's Common Cold Research Center pooh-poohs the hot lemon-juice-for-Vitamin-C approach to curing a cold. They say it doesn't work. They suggest relaxing in a hot bath, taking aspirin, going to bed and keeping warm.

Won't Be Her Face Audience Watches

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Was this the face that launched a thousand ships and burnt the topless towers of Ilium?"

When Maggie Wright walks onstage as Helen of Troy in the Royal Shakespeare Company's production of "Dr. Faustus," it is not her face that music center audiences watch. She appears on the well-lighted stage nude. Completely.

"There is always the same sound when I enter," says the well-formed (36-24-36) English beauty. "It is a sort of mass sucking in of breath, like this: 'Oooohhh.' It happened the first time I did it in London, it happened in New York, and it happens here."

It is likely also to happen in San Francisco, Detroit, Baltimore and New Haven, which will also be visited by the famed English acting company on its American tour. That is, if the police don't intervene.

"That's always a consideration," Miss Wright admits. "We were actually breaking the law in London when the play opened there; that was when the Lord Chamberlain was still censoring the theater. I believe we are also breaking the law here. But so far nobody has complained."

Maggie may be the only method nude in show business. Like Marlon Brando, Rod Steiger and other method actors, she prepares for her role by contemplating the character's motivations.

"I'm just as nervous now as I was the first time I stood with my clothes off before an audience," she remarked. "If it ever comes easy to me, I'll know it's time to quit."

"I go through an entire ritual in my dressing room, starting with makeup on my feet. Then I carry on a conversation with Helen herself, trying to figure out what kind of a woman she was. 'You're not a whore, no matter what people say,' I tell her."

Maggie Wright at 24 is well-schooled in the entertainment world. She danced for a year and a half in Japan with England's famed Bluebell Girls, appeared on the stage and television in England, and in such films as "Goldfinger," in which she played one of the girl pilots. Nothing in her background quite prepared her for the unclad Helen in Christopher Marlowe's Elizabethan classic.

She didn't think it odd when she received a call to audition for the Royal Shakespeare Company.

Bobcats Have Two Games on Weekend

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

With the weekend comes the return of 4-AA Western Division action for the Hope Bobcats, with trips tonight to Texarkana Washington to face the Lions and tomorrow night to the home gym of the Arkadelphia Badgers.

This writer will be out of town for the weekend, but Randy Wright will cover the Washington game for the Saturday edition. The game tonight is an important one for the Bobcats, trying to break into the win column and possibly out of the cellar of 4-AA West. Texarkana Washington shot Hope 83-66 a month ago, but the Lions had to be really hot to win that one in the second half.

Arkadelphia is a tougher assignment for the locals; they are very much like the powerhouses of the district because of their power and endless depth. The Badgers have beaten the Bobcats twice this season, and it's been six years since Hope has beaten the Arkadelphia varsity away from home.

Regular-season action ends with next weekend's contests, as Hope stays at home for dates with Fairview on Friday and Malvern on Saturday evening. Fairview, by the way, is presently No. 1 in the entire state on the Arkansas Gazette poll, and No. 3 in the Associated Press Top Ten.

All the remainder of the regular season dates will include "B" team games, and each time this weekend the first one starts at 6:30 p.m.

Americans to Be Hard Put in Semifinals

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer
SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — The Americans who battle for two semifinal spots in the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships tonight will be hard put topping the intriguing match-up of foreigners already in the round of four.

In the all-foreign quarter-finals Thursday night, darkhorse Ismael el Shafel recorded another stunning upset while advancing along with Torben Ulrich, the bearded Dane, who beat El Shafel's father in Davis Cup play 21 years ago.

El Shafel, 22-year-old national champion of the United Arab Republic, polished off Mark Cox, the number 2 foreign seed from England, 9-7, 6-4. He previously had eliminated Cliff Richey, the defending champion and No. 4 American seed.

Ulrich, who sluffs off questions about his age, but is believed to be 40 or 41, rallied to beat Ove Bengtson of Sweden, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. Ulrich was seeded fourth among foreigners in the 48-man draw.

In tonight's matches, second-seeded American, Clark Graebner, plays veteran Ron Holmberg and Stan Smith, the No. 3 domestic seed, takes on Charlie Pasarelli, who won the tournament in 1966 and 1967.

Ulrich said he lost to El Shafel, his Saturday semifinal opponent, the only time they played in Copenhagen. Then he dropped his big surprise.

"I played his father in my first Davis Cup competition and beat him," Ulrich said. "I later visited him in Cairo when he told me 'You must come see my little son.' Now, I am playing against his son."

Asked to fix a date, Ulrich said, "It was before the First World War."

It was determined that the year was 1948.

Ulrich quipped that he thought he had a chance to win "when the last point bounced twice."

Playing in Super Bowls Means Cash

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Colts are receiving $9,265.58 each for winning the National Football League championship, NFL President Art Modell announced today. With $7,500 as the losing share in the Super Bowl, each Colt picked up $16,765.58 for the two games.

The Cleveland Browns, who lost to Baltimore 34-0, will get checks for $5,937.08 for each loser's share.

Detroit got $10,936.66 for winning the World Series. St. Louis got $7,078.71.

Both payoffs are the second highest in NFL history. Green Bay's 1966 cut of $9,813.63 for beating Dallas was the highest. The Cowboys' losing share in that same game set a record at $6,527.85.

The Colts voted 51 shares and Cleveland 53 shares for the Dec. 29 game witnessed by 78,410 at Cleveland. The receipts for the game were $1,389,708.74 and the players' pool, representing 70 per cent of the net, came to $972,796.12.

The second-place teams in the Eastern and Western conferences split $100,000 and the third-place teams split $75,000.

Dallas, winner of the Capital Division, voted 54 shares worth $917.43 each and Minnesota, winner of the Central Division, voted 51 shares of $980.39. In addition, each Cowboy and Viking, and each Colt and Brown received one-fourteenth of a regular season salary for playing in the Eastern and Western conference title games.

Dallas also received $1,200 per man for winning the Miami Playoff Bowl and Minnesota got $500 each as the loser's share. St. Louis, third in the East, voted 63 shares worth $595.24 each and Los Angeles, third in the West, voted 50 shares worth $750 each.

Old Sam Is Happy to Be Back

By JAMES R. POLK

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The day Sam Huff hung up his jersey and retired, he sat in front of his locker and sobbed for 15 minutes.

Today the fabled Sam Huff has come back to his world of violence, smiling and ready to resume his fierce warfare as a linebacker for the Washington Redskins after only a year in retirement.

"It was the worst year I've ever spent in my life," said the restless Huff.

Vince Lombardi, the new coach and part-owner of the Washington Redskins, lured the 34-year-old Huff out of his retirement to return as both player and assistant coach on defense.

Lombardi hailed Huff's winning drive. He said "every team needs leadership ability and he's got that quality."

In his dozen years in the National Football League, Huff helped lead the New York Giants to five conference titles. He was named to the all-NFL team four times with the Giants and once with the Redskins after being traded to Washington in 1964.

The jersey he hung up, No. 70, was still waiting for him when he returned Thursday.

Huff, who took a pay cut in snipping his rich business ties with a clothing firm, said he decided to come back after watching sales movie, Second Effort.

The business movie featured Lombardi in a talk about winning determination. "This is my second effort," said Huff.

"We both came out of retirement the same year," laughed Lombardi.

Lombardi guided Green Bay to five NFL championships and the first two Super Bowl victories within a seven-year span before quitting coaching a year ago. The Redskins made him part-owner as well as executive vice president and coach last week.

Huff was the seventh assistant coach chosen by Lombardi. It was a reunion not only with Lombardi, who was an assistant at New York when he broke in as a rookie in 1956, but also with new Redskins' defensive coach Harland Sware, his former teammate as Giants linebacker.

Lombardi expressed confidence that Huff, who still weighs a trim, sturdy 222, will be able to play with all his old ferocity even though he will be 35 next fall.

"Sam is still young enough to play," Lombardi said. "He's in fine physical condition. And we can use his winning attitude more than anything else."

Porkers Sign Three More Players

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks signed three more football players to letters of intent Thursday.

They are Corky Cordell, a 6-foot-2, 182-pound split end from Houston Memorial; Scott Blinn, a 5-foot-11, 195-pound halfback-fullback from Bishop, Tex.; and Ron Revard, a 6-foot-2, 215-pound fullback-tackle from Tulsa, Okla.

Including two junior college players, Don Brennan of Coffeyville, Kan., and John Turner of Centerville, Ia. JC, the Razorbacks now have signed 45 players.

Villanova Super Soph Seeks Record

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Just pick a running event. Any one, shuffle a bit and chances are the name of Marty Liquori will pop out.

Liquori, the super sophomore trackster for the University of Villanova, will be aiming at the 1,000-yard run title in the Golden Anniversary of the New York K of C track meet tonight.

The 19-year-old, who made the U.S. Olympic team in the 1500 meters, took the mile run at the Millrose Games in the fastest time of the indoor season—4:00.8. Then last week at the Madison Square Garden Invitational, he moved up to the two-mile and you guessed it, he was an easy winner in 8:42.2.

And tonight at Madison Square Garden, Liquori will square off against Olympians Josef Plachy of Czechoslovakia and Tom Von Ruden of the U.S., in the 1,000.

"I'm trying to keep Marty loose," Wildcat Coach Jim Elliott said of the shifts.

"I want to give him some variety. It's good to move him around every now and then."

And so far Liquori has made a prophet of Elliott.

Elliott has a few of his other aces entered here also including Olympians Erv Hall, Larry James and Frank Murphy, and Dave Patrick, a former pupil, will be tested.

Hall, a silver medalist in the high hurdles at the Mexico City Games, is expected to take the 60-yard highs here and will double in the 60-yard dash. That event features Jim Green, the sophomore standout from Kentucky.

James will battle his U.S. 1600-meter Olympic teammate on the winning relay team, Vince Matthews of Johnson C. Smith for 500 honors while Murphy, who ran for Ireland at Mexico, is gunning for the mile title.

Murphy expects challenges from Czech Olympian Josef Odlozil, Byron Dyce of NYU and Manhattan's Brian Kivlan.

The field events have silver medalist Ed Caruthers heading the high jump along with Peter Chen in the pole vault and Olympians Charlie Mays and Norm Tate in the long jump.

Another meet is on tap tonight at Toronto and the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville, Ky., and the Los Angeles Times meet are scheduled for Saturday night.

Ted Williams Will Join Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly Washington Senators, seeking to counter-act the magic name of football's Vince Lombardi, have come up with a storied name of their own and hired headline-making slugger Ted Williams as manager.

"I cannot immediately deliver a new team, but it is possible to get a storybook manager," said Bob Short, the Minneapolis millionaire who purchased the team last December and took full control of it two weeks ago.

Williams could be reached for comment, but a source close to the scene told The Associated Press Thursday night Williams signed a long-term contract at a price "he just couldn't afford to turn down."

Short told the Washington Post, "There has not yet been a meeting of the minds that could be reduced to a writing."

The hiring of Williams was just as fantastic, and as shocking as the Washington Redskins' recent coup of grabbing Lombardi. A few years ago, the last of baseball's 400 hitters had said, "You couldn't pay me enough to manage." He said then he had turned down two offers to manage, presumably from the Boston Red Sox.

In Boston, where Williams still is a vice president of the Red Sox, the team for which he started from 1939-60, General Manager Dick O'Connell confirmed Short had received permission to talk to Williams.

During a brilliant but stormy career, interrupted twice for almost five years of service as a Marine pilot, Williams compiled a lifetime batting average of .344, hit 521 home runs and won the American League batting title six times, hitting .406 in 1941. He was elected to the Hall of Fame the first year he became eligible.

Williams retired for the first time after the 1954 season but came back a month into the 1955 season and played through 1960. He then devoted most of his time to his fishing enterprises, while also serving as a hitting instructor for the Red Sox.

His career was marred by feuds with fans and writers in Boston. He was fined for spitting incidents on the field and also made headlines with his blasts at "gutless" draft boards and "phony" politicians concerning his recall to active Marine duty in Korea.

Williams replaces Jim Lemon, who piloted the Senators to a last-place finish in the American League last season. Short fired Lemon and General Manager George Selkirk two weeks ago.

First Baseball Strike May Come Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first strike in the 100-year history of major league baseball was expected to become a reality today when Chicago White Sox battersmen were scheduled to open spring training at their Sarasota, Fla., camp.

The Major League Players Association, embroiled in a pension dispute with club owners, has ordered its members—including most of the game's top stars—not to sign contracts or report to spring training until a settlement is reached.

And, the White Sox readily admitted they expected only about a dozen or so "kids"—first-year rookies not affiliated with the Players Association—on hand for the 9:30 a.m., EST, opening session at Payne Park in Sarasota.

But, "regardless of who is here," there will be a workout, promised Ed Shore, vice president of the Pale Horse.

Meanwhile, it appears unlikely a settlement can be reached in the dispute until at least early next week. Representatives of both sides have been meeting daily in New York, but after Thursday's session it was announced no further meetings were planned until next Monday.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, said some progress has been made in the talks, "but there are a number of very difficult, serious problems still unresolved."

However, Bowie Kuhn, baseball's new commissioner, said he thinks agreement will be reached before a dire emergency develops.

The Players Association is insisting that television revenue be included in the new pension plan. The owners say there should be no relation between contributions.

Huff's Return One of Many Developments

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sam Huff's return to pro football as linebacker and coach with Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins was the most prominent of a number of developments in the sport Thursday.

Huff called his one-year retirement "the worst year I've spent in my life." And Lombardi told a press conference "we both came out of retirement in the same year."

Two other coaches and two other players also signed pro football contracts Thursday.

Charlie Sumner, an assistant coach for six years with the Oakland Raiders, signed as defensive backfield coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Sumner joins John Bridgers and Walt Hackett on the staff of Chuck Noll, the Steelers' new head coach.

Jesse Richardson, defensive line coach of the Boston Patriots, was re-hired by Clive Rush, the club's new head coach.

Mike Holovak, former general manager and coach of the Patriots, was reported by the Boston Globe to be in line for the job of director of player personnel with the New York Jets. George Sauer left that job to succeed Holovak as the Patriots' GM, joining Rush, a former New York assistant coach.

Dave Costa, Denver's defensive captain, signed his 1959 contract with the Broncos and Dave Cutler, a linebacker and kicker from Vancouver, British Columbia, agreed to terms with the Green Bay Packers.

Little Rock Silents to Play at Spring Hill

The Spring Hill High School Basketball team is sponsoring a benefit fun night at the Spring Hill Gym Saturday, Feb. 15, beginning at 6:30. Proceeds from the game will be used to purchase uniforms for the team.

The first game pits the "Odd Balls" against the Arkia Gas Team, in the second contest the "Little Nuts".

In the third game Perry's Truckers face the Little Rock Silents.

The "Odd Balls", consist of Bill Powell, Brooks Collins, Bud Powell, Clayton McNeal, Charles Jones, Lee Downs, Lane Garner, Lloyd Turner and Autrey Hatfield.

Arkia Gas includes Billy Don Hamm, W.N. Mullins, Larry Langston, Gary Miller, Ricky Robbins, Larry Waldon, Harold Matherly, Terry Powell, Perry Foster, and Merle Nash.

The "Little Odd Balls" are made up of Micky McCormack, Don Whitley, Johnny Springfield, Mike Powell, R.C. Stuart, Ricky Cox, Malvin Wyatt, Jimmy Rushing, Eddie Brown and Albert Applegate.

Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Maravich Sets a New Scoring Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Pistol Pete Maravich's 50-point outburst against Florida last Wednesday night enabled the precocious Louisiana State sharpshooter to break a major college basketball record held by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, it was revealed today.

And, there's a pretty good chance the mop-haired junior will shatter another of the Big O's marks before the week is over.

Maravich, who also scored 66 points against Tulane Monday night, now has a career total 1,970 points, according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Sports Service.

Robertson set the old sophomore-junior mark of 1,962 in 1958 and 1959.

If Maravich scores 30 or more points against Auburn Saturday, he will reach the 2,000 mark sooner than any major collegian in history. The Auburn game will be the 46th of his career.

Robertson didn't reach 2,000 until the 1960 season opener—his 59th collegiate game.

Maravich takes a 43.8 scoring average into the Auburn match, although the NCAA stat is for game only through last Saturday, and they list Maravich at 42.1.

Nagarsa's Calvin Murphy remained second at 33.4. Purdue's Rick Mount moved up to third at 32.3, with Detroit's Spencer Haywood slipping to fourth at 31.2.

The pacesetters in the other departments also held their leads.

Al Krobeth of Citadel led in field goal percentage with 99 of 151 for .656 and Larry Lewis of St. Francis, Pa., was the top rebounder with 327 in 15 games for a 21.8 average. Larry Ward of Centenary held only a .9176-.9175 advantage over Tom Hagan of Vanderbilt in free throw shooting.

Golfers Must Hit Par or Better

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The $100,000 Phoenix Open appeared ready to close today for golfers who don't shoot par or better.

In the van, going into the second round, were seven who fired six-under-par 65 for their first 13 holes over the friendly Arizona Country Club course and 82 had bettered the par 71. Another 26 had matched it.

Only the low 70 and ties survive the cut after this second round of the 5,389-yard, par 35-36 layout.

Leading the way into today's play were Terry Wilcox, Dutch Harrison, John Jacobs, Billy

Hurricane Surprised by Louisville

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Has the bubble burst for the Tulsa Golden Hurricane, the surprise college basketball team of the season?

You'll never get Coach Ken Hayes to admit any such thing, even though the Hurricane was beaten by Louisville 83-81 in overtime Thursday night, snapping a 10-game winning streak.

"We're still in the driver's seat," Hayes said after two free throws by Jerry King with seven seconds left in the extra period gave Louisville its victory before a hometown turnout of 15,047.

It was the first defeat for Tulsa in the tough Missouri Valley Conference. It left the Hurricane still on top at 10-1 to 9-2 for runner-up Louisville.

Down at one time by 15 points at 55-40, Tulsa rallied to go ahead at 79-77 in the OT. It appeared the Hurricane would continue their remarkable surge this campaign under Hayes in his first year as Tulsa head coach.

The Hurricane, ignored in preseason forecasts off their 11-12 record last year, have zoomed to seventh place nationally in the Associated Press rankings with a current over-all mark of 18-3.

Bobby Smith, Tulsa's high scorer with 36 points, sank a 15-foot jumper in the last second to give the Hurricane a 77-77 tie in regulation time. Larry Cheatham's set shot put Tulsa ahead, but King's basket tied it.

Dennis Deeken and Ron Carlson traded baskets to make it 81-81 before the free throws by King settled the issue. King's 26 points topped the Louisville scoring.

John Dromo, coach of the 20th-ranked Louisville team, said, "I know that lead of ours disappeared faster than lipstick at a love-in. But why worry about that? We won, didn't we?"

Ninth-ranked St. John's of New York overwhelmed Niagara 97-60 at home despite 29 points by Niagara's Calvin Murphy, who was guarded by three men. On the road, 17th-ranked Dayton edged Rice 58-55 on Dan Sadlier's lay-up and Jim Gottschall's two free throws in the last two minutes.

Bob Lanier's 36 points paced St. Bonaventure to a convincing 84-62 victory over 18th-ranked Marquette in the feature of a doubleheader in New York's Madison Square Garden. NYU made it nine in a row by drubbing Georgetown, D.C., 87-67 in the other game.

Ron Mendell hit a 30-foot jump shot at the buzzer to give Wichita State an upset 75-73 road victory over Cincinnati. Bob Portman's 31 points helped Creighton surprise Seattle 90-88 at Omaha.

Cocrell earned a 15-point deficit to beat Dartmouth 68-67 at Ithaca and Columbia whipped Harvard 81-75 in New York.

Drake nipped Bradley 73-72, Rhode Island took new Hampshire 92-65 and Wyoming whipped Denver 99-84 in a trio of road triumphs.

Playing at home, Georgia Tech defeated Georgia 73-66, East Carolina drubbed Richmond 98-78, Houston downed St. Mary's, Tex. 91-70, Brigham Young routed Arizona State 102-89, Utah crushed Arizona 105-75, Portland State edged Montana 84-83 and Massachusetts beat Iowa 71-64.

OAKLAND — Ralph McCoy, 158, Richmond, Calif., outpointed Charley Austin, 159½, San Diego, 12; Jimmy Lester, 160½, San Francisco, stopped Gene Bryant, 159½, Las Vegas, Nev., 9.

Maxwell, Lee Elder, Miller Barber, and Larry Ziegler.

Wilcox, of Brouville, N.Y., drew top billing only because he punctuated his round with a hole-in-one on the 154-yard 15th hole. There was no special prize except that without the ace, the 30-year-old New Yorker wouldn't have been with the leaders.

Neither would have been Maxwell and Elder if each hadn't scored an eagle 3 on the 477-yard, par 5, 8th.

Vacation Did Little for Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most employees relish a few days off but a National Hockey League vacation didn't do much for the Detroit Red Wings.
Montreal dropped the flat Red Wings 3-1 Thursday night, and their was general agreement that four days off had hurt Detroit more than the Canadiens did. In other games, St. Louis shaded Philadelphia 2-1 and Los Angeles stunned New York 4-1.
"They just didn't have any zip," said Coach Bill Gadsby after the Wings' sluggish performance.
Alex Delvecchio, who went into the game with 990 career points, said.
"When you get four days off, you're like nothing," said Alex Delvecchio, Detroit's veteran center. "It takes a while to get back in the groove."
Delvecchio needed a goal or an assist to become the NHL's third 1,000-point scorer behind teammate Gordie Howe and Montreal's Jean Beliveau. He got neither.
Jacques Lemaire scored twice for the Canadiens, who cut Boston's first-place lead in the East Division to four points. Ralph Backstrom had Montreal's other goal while Bruce MacGregor hit for Detroit.
Ab McDonald and Jean Guy Talbot scored second period goals and Jacques Plante held off a late Philadelphia rally for St. Louis' victory.
Allan Stanley snapped Plante's shutout bid with less than two minutes to play and the Flyers had four good chances in the last 90 seconds but Plante held them off.
Los Angeles built an early 3-0 lead in handing New York its second setback in as many nights on the West Coast. Oakland had defeated the Rangers 3-2 Wednesday night.

Full Field in Feature at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A full field of 14 was nominated for today's feature race at Oaklawn Park, a 6-furlong event for 6-year-olds and up.
The 3,800 Airline's Day purse was the eighth race of the day.
Probable favorites were Fleet Fella, Jester J.G. and Mt. Jungle, all carrying 115 pounds.
Jester J. G. was part of an entry, owned by Earl Kirker, with Tudor Jim (111).
Another entry nomination is Van Berg Stable's Capstan (114) and Countess Marian (112).
Another strong contender is Beaucoup D'Argent (113), who won his first race last Saturday.
Others nominated are Michimango (111), Tenor (115), Colu Cura (115), Pals Miss Redbird (104), Silver Lu (110), Son Blass (114), and Helio's Tune (113).
In Thursday's featured $6,000 Little Rock purse, favored Missouri Gent romped to an easy 2 1/2-length victory.
Missouri Gent, with Ray Landing aboard, stepped the miles and 70 yards in 1:42 3-5 to return $5.40, $3.80 and $3.40. Ovation finished second and paid $6.60 and $2.20. Mink showed for $4.
Poor Old D won the first race Thursday and Sweyn won the second to combine for a $52.40 daily double.
Mutual handle Thursday was $509,421.

Southern State, behind 44-39 at halftime, took the lead for good with 5:59 left to play against A&M. Billy Barnes and Ronny Tollett led the Mule-riders with 23 and 20 points, respectively. Tommy Morrison hit 31 for A&M. SSC now is 10-6 in conference play and A&M is 4-12.

Texas Southern Defeated by Arkansas AM&N

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas AM&N came from behind in the second half to defeat Texas Southern University 91-89 on Melvin Bonner's filed goal with 10 seconds remaining Thursday night.
Texas Southern led 45-42 at halftime in the Southwest Athletic Conference game.
Bonner scored 31 points, Gerald Lockett 25 and Joseph Byner 21 for the Golden Lions. Jerry Kidd had 15, Kenneth Bradley 14 and Harold Hudgens 13 for Texas Southern.

Ouachita Now Hopes Tech Beats Reddies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ouachita did what it had to do Thursday night and now the Tigers will lay back and hope that Arkansas Tech can pine a loss on the Henderson Reddies tonight.
Ouachita moved to within a game and a half of the front-running Reddies with an 85-70 victory over Hendrix Thursday night. In other AIC games, State College of Arkansas defeated Ozarks 83-75, Harding clipped Arkansas College 72-65 and Southern State downed Arkansas A&M 84-71.
Tech and Henderson play tonight and the Reddies can clinch a tie for their second straight conference title with a victory. Ouachita, 13-3, has two games left while Henderson, 14-1, and Tech, 11-4, have three games each.

Jimmy Beard pumped in eight straight points midway in the second half to spark Ouachita to its victory. He finished the night with 22 points. Ouachita led 35-31 at halftime.
At Conway, State College of Arkansas broke open a close game early in the second half to defeat Ozarks. Connie Johnson led SCA with 29 points and Bob Sloan was tops for Ozarks with 18. SCA now is 9-7 in conference play and Ozarks is 1-15.
Harding took an early lead in its game with Arkansas College and never trailed. George Frazier led the Bisons with 22 points. Terry Barnhill and Bill Cossey each had 19 for the Scots. Harding now is 8-8 in loop play and the Scots are 5-11.

Southern State, behind 44-39 at halftime, took the lead for good with 5:59 left to play against A&M. Billy Barnes and Ronny Tollett led the Mule-riders with 23 and 20 points, respectively. Tommy Morrison hit 31 for A&M. SSC now is 10-6 in conference play and A&M is 4-12.

McClendon Still After Ferguson

DUMAS, Ark. (AP)—Charles McClendon, head football coach at Louisiana State University, said Thursday that he would try to get quarterback Joe Ferguson to change his mind and sign with LSU before May 17, the national letter of intent day.

Ferguson, the highly sought quarterback from Shreveport, La., Woodlawn High School, signed a Southwest Conference letter of intent Tuesday with the University of Arkansas.
McClendon, speaking at the Dumas High School football banquet, said he "may have lost the battle but not the war yet" over recruiting Ferguson.
He said in an interview with a newsmen that Ferguson "is probably like many other 18-year-olds," and after thinking about it, "he might decide to stay home" and go to school.
Asked if he were surprised that Razorback Coach Frank Broyles did so well in recruiting at Shreveport, where Broyles signed four other players, McClendon said he had "not even considered those boys as college prospects."

A—It is possible but very rare. The cause would most likely be a blowout of a congenitally weak artery in the brain rather than hardening of the arteries or high blood pressure.

Heavy Drinking Will Not Of Itself Cause Cancer

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—In what way does drinking too much injure one's health? Will it cause cancer?

A—It will not cause cancer but it may shorten one's life by causing or aggravating cirrhosis of the liver, high blood pressure, peptic ulcer, asthma, diabetes, gout, neuritis, coronary heart disease, brain damage and kidney stones. Furthermore, heavy drinking destroys the body's supply of vitamin B and interferes with the normal dreaming now recognized as essential to restful sleep.

 Q—The bidding has been: West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass ?
You, South, hold:
AK 65 ♥K 764 ♦32 ♠A 98
What do you do now?
A—Just raise to two hearts. You like hearts but your partner may have a very weak hand. If he has a good hand he will bid again.

 Q—Is it true that if a man is a heavy drinker his children will be born with congenital defects?
A—No.

Q—I often read in your column that the continued use of cortisone is harmful. What do you advise for a person who has Addison's disease when his life depends on cortisone?

A—When cortisone is given to correct a deficiency of the adrenal, as in Addison's disease, and not merely to control inflammation, this is replacement therapy and must be continued indefinitely.

Q—I have had Addison's disease for 20 years. Lately I have had a rapid pulse and my blood pressure, which is usually 115, goes up to 145. What causes these symptoms and what can be done for them?

A—In Addison's disease, the blood pressure is usually low and the pulse rapid. You may need an adjustment of the dosage of the adrenal hormone I presume you are taking.

 Q—Would the adrenal glands in a woman ever produce male hormones?
A—No. Only the testicles can produce testosterone, the male hormone. It is true, however, that there is an interrelationship between the glands of internal secretion. Thus, an absence of adrenal secretion would cause an atrophy or wasting of the testicles in a man and of the ovaries in a woman. In a prepubescent girl, this would result in a failure of breast development and other feminizing changes. But a total absence of adrenal secretion is rare.

Q—Is it possible for a 17-year-old boy to have a stroke?

A—It is possible but very rare. The cause would most likely be a blowout of a congenitally weak artery in the brain rather than hardening of the arteries or high blood pressure.

fairly high. In other words he played his 10 of clubs. When this held, the rest of the defense was easy. He gave his partner a diamond ruff. Then West led his jack of clubs for East to overtake with the queen and a second diamond ruff seemed to ruin all South's visions of sugar-plums.

All was not lost. The game was team of four and at the other table North ran from two hearts to three diamonds. East doubled, opened a trump and picked up 500 points for a net profit of 300 points or seven match points.

West's double of two hearts was generally unpopular. He didn't like it much himself. North considered running out to three diamonds but finally decided to let his partner get out of his own troubles if he wished. North had also noticed that South had by-passed both clubs and diamonds in running to an enemy suit and maybe South did know what he was doing. As for East, he just didn't like the double at all but he hoped his partner really held good hearts.

There was one exception: South rather liked the double and his love for it grew when he saw the dummy. It looked as if he was going to come limping home with his contract.

He didn't quite make it. West opened the king of clubs and shifted to his singleton diamond. South was in dummy and led the 10 of hearts which was allowed to hold. His next play was dummy's last club and at this point East came up with one of those fine plays that look so easy when you see all the cards but are seldom made at the table. East played second hand.

50 Years of Women Voters

The League of Women Voters is rounding out its first half-century this year. Born in 1920, it grew out of the National American Women Suffrage Association—the famed Suffragettes who waged a 72-year campaign to get women the vote and that year achieved victory with adoption of the 19th Amendment.

The New Majority Party: WOMEN VOTERS

Figures on how many women vote are only estimates since no nationwide statistics are kept, but they obviously have made a big difference in the national electorate. The total vote jumped from less than 18 million in 1916—the last men-only presidential election—to more than 25 million in 1920—the first in which women went to the polls. The women's percentage of the total vote has risen steadily from a low of 28 per cent in 1920 to an estimated 51 per cent in the 1966 congressional elections—the first year women outnumbered men among actual voters.

And away they go! Suffragettes, on parade above in New York City, were a familiar sight in many American cities in the long campaign for the women's vote. Susan B. Anthony, right, is a hallowed name in the women's hall of fame. Born Feb. 15, 1820, she died 14 years before the victory, but her dedication sparked the drive that eventually wrote women's suffrage into the Constitution.

Its original purpose was to prepare the recently enfranchised American woman to carry out her new responsibilities, but the League of Women Voters soon shifted emphasis. The nonpartisan organization, numbering more than 150,000 members, now concentrates on encouraging informed and active participation by all citizens, men and women, in government and politics.

Majority Party Law Passed by House

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today passed a bill that attached the emergency clause to a majority party measure which became law without the governor's signature.

The bill defines the majority party as that having the greater number of state constitutional officers.

The vote was 81-3, with three of the four Republican members of the House voting against it.

Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith, who spoke against the measure, voted for it in order to serve notice of reconsideration but he did not get to do so because Speaker Hayes McClerkin recognized one of the Democratic members who moved that the clincher be applied to the vote.

The clincher motion — which prevents reconsideration — was adopted.

The bill was coauthored by Sens. W. K. Ingram of West Memphis and Clarence Bell of Parkin. The Senate already had adopted the emergency clause and the clincher.

The House also adopted an amendment to the administration's proposal to increase the tax on a 32-gallon barrel of beer from $5 to $10.

Rep. N.B. "Nap" Murphy of Hamburg, sponsor of the bill, said the amendment would change the requirement of the number of votes needed for passage of the bill.

As drafted, Murphy said, the bill needed 75 favorable votes to be approved, but with the amendment approval of the bill could be accomplished with 51 votes.

The amendment was adopted by a 78-1 vote.

However, McClerkin said he would rule that the bill needed 75 votes whether the amendment was attached or not.

Passed 85-2 and sent to the governor was a Senate bill to change the name of the state Publicity and Parks Commission to the state Parks, Recreation and Travel Commission.

The lower chamber also passed a Senate bill which would make physicians and

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

TRANSCRACIAL ADOPTIONS, PRO AND CON

Dear Helen: I feel qualified to answer questions about mixed-race adoptions (as asked by one of your readers) because we are the adoptive parents of a little brown child.

My husband and I were blessed with three natural-born, healthy, beautiful blond sons. For health reasons, we felt it inadvisable to have another child, although we did desire a daughter.

We decided to adopt a child, and in talking with the Children's Home Society, we found there was a category of child called "hard-to-adopt." These included children who were beyond the infant stage, children with medical problems, and children of minority heritage, especially those of mixed-racial background.

We felt that our kind of home was one in which a child of any background would be welcomed, loved and accepted. Consequently, we adopted a little daughter of minority race, with brown skin, black hair, and big black eyes.

Lisa is 16 months old now, and a lovely, happy child. She is adored by her brothers and shown off with much pride as "our little adopted sister."

There were some objections from friends, and even a few relatives who felt this was not proper, and indeed would cause a hardship on the boys to have to "defend" such a sister. However, most of these feelings slipped away as people actually saw and could hold the baby. It is easy to be prejudiced to an "idea" or a group of unknown people, but rare to have negative feelings against one sweet little baby.

I would urge anyone thinking of a mixed-race adoption to give it much thought, as this is not for everyone. We have found our family is always in the limelight.

I am sure most of the attention is just curiosity, for the contrast between the children is striking. On occasion, I have had people question my moral integrity and this is, of course, upsetting.

The most important advice I could give would be: Go to a good licensed adoption agency—state, county or private—and talk it over with them. Be completely honest in how you feel. They will help you evaluate those feelings.

More families who are willing to show love and acceptance of all races are desperately needed in our world today. All children should be accepted and loved for themselves. What better way to live this love than to take a child of a different racial background into your family?—MRS. D.C.

P.S. We feel so strongly about this matter we are planning to adopt another daughter of mixed-racial heritage.

Dear Helen: You said you wished more people would show the positive side on the race question. I couldn't agree more!

We are the parents of two children, one Caucasian, born to us, and one of Negro-Caucasian mixture. We are members of an organization, "Transracial Adoptive Parents," which includes over 100 families in the Chicago area. We say to interested parents: "Come on in, the water's fine!"

We all recognize the many problems that can occur as our children grow up, but we also are terribly aware of the alternative, which is a series of foster homes or no family, at all, as you so correctly pointed out, Helen.—MRS. S.C.

Dear Helen: About mixed-race adoptions: "Mixing" does not make people change their ideas nor does it control their comments. I feel the "different race" child would be far happier in a dorm with other half-breeds, just as retarded children are happier in State homes, among their own kind.—FROM DALLAS

Dear Dallas: You sound like the kind of person who says, "Why some of my best friends are..." —And I'll bet you're so narrow-minded you don't even realize I just insulted you!—H.

fourths majority.

The original beer tax was levied on beer with an alcohol content of 3.2 per cent shortly before the effective date of a 1935 constitutional amendment requiring a three-fourths vote to increase any tax in existence in 1935.

Since the original beer tax was levied on "3.2" beer, which is no longer sold in Arkansas, and Griffin believes his amendment would create a new tax requiring only a simple majority vote for passage.

Both houses of the legislature were busy Thursday, but neither took up major legislation. It was a day for noncontroversial bills in the House, which passed a bill 78-0 to authorize an additional term of up to seven years when a firearm is used in an escape from prison or in the commission of a crime.

The bill, by Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith, goes to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller for his signature. Rockefeller had vetoed an earlier Earnhart measure making the seven-year sentence mandatory.

The Senate voted 18 to 3 to create a second circuit judge's position in the 1st Judicial Circuit. Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree cast the deciding vote, although he said he had been committed to vote against the measure. Stafford said he thought the bill had enough votes for passage and he had cast his as a "courtesy" to the measure's sponsors.

The bill is supported by the Bar Associations in four of the five counties in the circuit, but opposed by the fifth in White County.

The White County Group has said the bill was designed for one man. Although it hasn't identified him, it has been reported that Prosecutor Lloyd Henry of Searcy wanted to run for the second judgeship.

White County sources also have said the bill would head off a move to separate the county from the circuit. One reason given for the move is that the eastern counties of the circuit with a heavy Negro population want to retain the white votes in White County.

Sen. Joe Lee Anderson of Helena, one of the sponsors of the bill, said the measure would relieve the heavy work load on Judge Elmo Taylor of Searcy, whom Anderson said had the highest case load of any circuit judge. He said Taylor supported the bill.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton opposed the bill because, he said, the state should redistrict its judicial circuits to make the case loads more equal between circuits with heavy loads and those with light ones.

The House passed 69-3 a bill by Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock to require competitive bidding on lease-purchase agreement entered into by the state Aeronautics Commission for the use of an airplane.

The House also passed 70-7 a bill by Rep. Worth Camp of El Dorado to create a land reclamation commission to study strip mining laws of other states. It is to recommend reclamation proposals.

A bill by Rep. Bennie Ryburn of Monticello to change the name of Arkansas A&M College at Monticello to Arkansas A & M University passed 62-6.

The House adopted a concurrent resolution calling for the creation of a legislative committee to attempt to resolve a dispute over a Game and Fish Commission order prohibiting the free-running of dogs in four summer months.

In other action, the Senate: —Passed and sent to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller a bill by Rep. Morris Henry of Fayetteville requiring candidates for school board positions to file 45 days ahead of the election rather than 20 days in advance.

—Failed 16-7 to pass a bill stating that a motorist is deemed to have given consent to chemical tests to determine the alcoholic content of his blood if he is arrested for drunken driving.

Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree gave notice of reconsideration.

—Passed 28-1 a bill by Sen. John F. Gibson of Dermott requiring the state Purole Board to obtain the written recommendations from the court, the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff of a county from which an inmate was committed to prison before granting a parole.

—Passed a bill by Sen. J. Ed Lightie of Searcy and Clifton Wade of Fayetteville codifying the state banking laws.

Shy Fox Has Little Edge

LINCOLN, R.I. (AP) — Shy Fox, $137.80, edged Joe Di Rosa in a photo finish in winning the $3,800 feature race Thursday as reaching the floor.

Under the same law, varying increases also went into effect for Cabinet members, federal judges and other high federal office-holders.

Although some members will not doubt complain that the current boost is not enough and others that it is too much, there's little question that the $42,500 will go farther than the meager wages paid the first congressmen.

"In Congress there are about five persons who look like gentlemen. All the rest come in the filthiest dress and are well indeed if they look like farmers," a British diplomat wrote home in 1805.

The scale then was $6 a day, an amount set in 1789 and unchanged until 1818.

Congressmen also got an allowance of $6 for every 20 miles they had to travel to get to Washington and back home—once. Now representatives are paid in full for one trip home each month Congress is in session, plus an extra one, and senators get seven.

The first congressional pay raise voted in 1818, increased the daily rate to $8. It lasted for 38 years.

In 1856 the members were finally put on an annual rate — $3,000. The authors of the legislation tried to cling to the no-work, no-pay concept of the daily wage by adding a provision that there would be a deduction for each day a member was absent for any reason other than illness.

Either the attendance in those days was remarkable, the excuses ingenious or the bookkeeping too difficult. At any rate the deduction provision was rarely, if ever, used and quickly fell into disuse.

Salary legislation began to come a little quicker after that. In 1866 the rate was boosted to $5,000 and seven years later to $7,500. The second step proved to be too quick.

The financial panic of 1873 touched off a slump that caused the public to look with disfavor on the Congressional wallet-fatening and in 1874 the raise was repealed, dropping the salary back to $5,000.

The public wrath must have been intense. It was 33 years before Congress raised its pay again, then, in 1907, it eased up to $7,500 and made it stick.

In the booming Twenties Congress went along with the prevailing mood and boosted salaries to $10,000. And in the Depression it also went along and reduced them. Cuts of 15 per cent, 10 per cent and 5 per cent were voted in 1932, '33 and '34 but in 1935 the $10,000 level was regained.

Lincoln Downs re-opened after a three-day shutdown because of an early week snowstorm.

Official JFK Death Report Attacked

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The official version of John F. Kennedy's assassination was under courtroom attack today by prosecutors armed with pictures and a toy-size model of Dallas' Dealey Plaza where the President was shot.

Clay Shaw, 55, the retired businessman charged with conspiring to murder Kennedy, became a spectator at his own trial Thursday as the state began trying to show that more than one gunman killed Kennedy. "The second and third shots were fired almost back to back," testified Buell Frazier of Irving, Tex., who gave Lee Harvey Oswald a ride to work on the day Kennedy was shot.

"You mean simultaneously..." began Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock. "Objection," boomed chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond. Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty sustained Dymond. But earlier he had overruled him on a major legal issue — the defense contention that the court did not go into the assassination itself.

"There is no question that the state can overprove its case," ruled Haggerty. "I feel that what is being offered now about what happened in Dallas is relevant evidence."

Dist. Atty., Jim Garrison rarely seen since his opening statement, said at the outset of testimony that the state would show Kennedy was hit by bullets fired from different directions. The Warren Commission report said Oswald was a lone sniper, with no credible evidence of a conspiracy. Shaw's indictment said Oswald and David W. Ferrie, both now dead, were among his co-conspirators, Shaw said he never laid eyes on either man.

In shifting the focus of testimony to the plaza where the President was shot Nov. 22, 1963, Garrison's assistants opened with repeated screenings of the Abraham Zapruder film.

Emmett, Other Schools Find Nixon Not Soft on School Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears to be taking no chances of any lingering doubts—spawned by Nixon campaign statements and earlier federal action—that it will be soft on school desegregation. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare capped a week of rapid-fire action Thursday by cutting off federal funds to three Southern school districts until they come up with long-delayed plans to integrate their schools.

The Justice Department filed suit for the same purpose Monday against three Louisiana districts and followed it up the next day with a suit against the Houston, Tex., system, sixth largest in the nation and biggest in the South.

The HEW and Justice Department actions represented the two main weapons the administration has to settle the scores of school desegregation cases inherited from the Democrats. Court action is usually, but not always, the result of a suit or complaint filed by a parent. The flurry of activity this week was the first involving school desegregation since HEW took its initial steps into the field Jan. 29 when it left the distinct impression that its policy would be to go slow.

On that day, HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, cut off federal funds to five Southern districts, but he said then it was a last-resort action, that funds would be held in escrow hopefully to be returned in 60 days and that he was sending special teams to help the districts work out new plans.

He told newsmen his policy would be one of "negotiation, fairness, and flexibility." Such a policy, Finch said, would be "consistent with the interpretation the President repeatedly expressed in the campaign."

When asked by a newsmen what specific remarks of Nixon's he referred to, aides spent 15 minutes looking over the files and then cited comments by the candidate at a Sept. 19 news conference. They were:

"When the Office of Education goes beyond the mandate of Congress and attempts to use federal funds not just for the purpose of avoiding segregation but for the purpose of integration in positive ways—busing and the like—with that I disagree. And I do not believe federal funds should be used for that purpose."

In a television interview Feb. 2, Finch repeated his view, and referred to withholding of funds as the "ultimate" weapon. In cutting off funds Thursday to Greenwood County in South Carolina, Emmett School District in Arkansas and Chester County, Tenn., Finch sent no special teams although he said he would provide "whatever HEW technical assistance may

Double Beer Tax, Says Committee

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate moved Thursday to make it easier to pass the administration's bill increasing the beer tax from $5 to $10 per 32-gallon barrel, although passage is not assured. The Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Richard Earl Griffin of Crossett, the bill's sponsor, to make the tax apply to beer with an alcohol content of five per cent. By applying the tax to beer above an alcohol content of 3.2 per cent, it is believed passage would require a simple majority vote rather than a three-

Congress Flooded With Advice on Taxes, Just Soak the Other Fellow

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being flooded with mail on how to straighten the maze of the federal tax structure with "soak the other fellow" leading the list of suggestions. Who the other fellow is differs, of course, depending on the status of the letter writer, but in most cases the advice is to soak millionaires, tax-exempt foundations, churches or married couples.

The volume of mail has taxed the answering-capacity of Congress since the House Ways and Means Committee announced that it would start tax hearings next Tuesday.

The suggestions are mainly from low and middle income people who won't be heard during the committee hearings unless they request a hearing. Very little mail is from business and other interests whose spokesmen already have been scheduled to testify.

Typical of the complaints and suggestions are these excerpts from letters sent to members of Congress and released to a newsmen with the stipulation that no names nor hometowns would be used:

From Illinois—"We are struggling along to make a living and are forced to pay a surtax because of a deficit—yet our representatives have the gall to vote themselves an increase" in pay.

From Tennessee—"The income tax mess is now a scandal. The way it works out, the more you earn the less taxes you pay. How about some loopholes for the little fellow?"

From Alabama—"We taxpayers may revolt before long. It would be good for you to listen

Bridge Out, Car Goes Into Creek

About 5 a.m. today an auto driven by William F. McNeal Jr. of Texarkana plunged into a creek on old Highway 81 east resulting in two persons being injured, neither believed seriously. Investigating officers said a bridge was out, McNeal and a companion, Brenda Caraway of Hope Rt. 2, both suffered cuts and bruises and were brought to a local hospital for treatment by a Herndon ambulance.

Claims Sirhan 'Did It for My Country'

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's defenders said today that at the moment Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot, Sirhan "was out of contact with reality, in a trance in which he had no voluntary control over his will, his judgment, his feelings or his action."

The 24-year-old Jordanian was pictured as "an immature, emotionally disturbed and mentally ill youth who wrote in a memorandum at the time of the 1967 Arab-Israeli war that 'he wants to be recorded by history as the man who triggered off the last war.'"

Emile Zola Berman, one of three attorneys defending Sirhan on a charge he murdered Kennedy, told the jury in opening arguments that Sirhan had fantasies in which "he was often a hero and saviour of the people."

Kennedy was shot in a kitchen hallway of the Ambassador Hotel early last June 5 after addressing a victory celebration. He had just won the California presidential primary.

"The evidence will show," Fitts said, "that the defendant, Sirhan Sirhan, alone was responsible for this tragedy... that he acted alone without concert with anyone."

Fitts said Rafer Johnson, the former decathlon champion, helped disarm Sirhan and then asked, "Why did you do it, why did you do it?" Sirhan's reply, Fitts said, was, "I will explain."

The question was asked again, Fitts said, by Jesse Unruh, Fitts said, by Jesse Unruh, Fitts said, by Jesse Unruh,

Disorders Jar College Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A midwinter contagion of student protest gripped several campuses across the country today and National Guardsmen stood by to control any further disorders at two major universities.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles brought in 1,000 more guardsmen to relieve the 900 already on duty after four days of disorders at the University of Wisconsin's Madison campus. Also on hand were 600 policemen.

A battalion of 600 riot-trained guardsmen was billeted near the Durham, N.C., campus of Duke University where student demonstrators clashed with police and state troopers Thursday.

At the University of California campus in Berkeley police arrested 36 persons, including 22 students, after protesters overturned tables in a cafeteria and scattered catalogue cards in the main library.

A detail of 50 state troopers broke up a sit-in demonstration at the administration building of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Thursday night, arresting 34. They were protesting Dow Chemical Co. recruiting.

At the University of Chicago students who seized the administration building two weeks ago to protest the dismissal of an instructor voted overwhelmingly early today to end their sit-in, unofficial sources said.

In Madison an estimated 10,000 marchers led by Negroes walked from the campus to the state Capitol Thursday night where they chanted freedom songs and sang "America." The march ended back on campus without incident.

In previous demonstrations, the ranks of protesters had never numbered more than 5,000. "We gave the police hell," Willie Edwards, a Negro leader said afterward. "And we will come back tomorrow and give the police hell again."

Earlier the protesters and law officers clashed twice and police and guardsmen used tear gas to break up pickets who blocked one major thoroughfare. Six students were arrested.

The demonstrations began as an attempt to force the 33,000-student university to accept 13 Negro demands including establishment of a black studies center.

Bill Ups Rate to Publish Legal Notices

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate today passed a bill to increase the newspaper rate for publishing state and county legal notices.

The bill by Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway would increase the rate for a first insertion from three to five cents a word and the rate for each subsequent insertion from two to four cents a word.

The bill also increases the fee for publishing delinquent personal property tax lists from 15 to 40 cents per name.

Jones, who is frequently critical of newspapers, told the Senate: "I want you legislators to be fair to the newspapers although they may not be fair to you."

The bill passed on a vote of 27-3. The Senate passed 32-0 a bill by Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville and others to remove the sales and use tax exemption granted rural electric cooperatives. Wade said many of the cooperatives were already paying the taxes.

The Senate passed 32-0 a bill setting up parole eligibility requirements for persons committed to a first-offenders penal institution, which was authorized by a bill passed earlier by the legislature. The bill by Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff would make a first offender under 21-years-old eligible for parole at any time unless a minimum term were set. The minimum term would not be more than one-third of the total sentence.

Showers Move Through Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Light rain, that developed in the western and southwestern sections of Arkansas early today, is expected to move through the state sometime Saturday.

A few thundershowers are likely mainly in the southern section of the state tonight. The rainfall is on the eastern edge of a massive precipitation area that extended from western Arkansas into eastern New Mexico.

Mostly cloudy skies are expected through Saturday with temperatures mainly in the 50s during the days and 40s at night.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 29 at Harrison to 44 at El Dorado.

Town Folks Always Ask About the Sins That Thrive in the Suburbs

By JOE WING
NEW YORK (AP) — When old friends from the valley of Salt Creek come to town, they sometimes give me the third degree on the sin in the suburbs that they read so much about.

That's only natural because I've lived for years in Port Washington, a commuters' town on Long Island's old Gold Coast — just the sort of place where suburban sin is supposed to thrive.

As a matter of fact, the town does have its sinners; until rather recently we had one in our own home. We called him Tiger, although his fashionably shaggy black hair and bumbling good nature were not in the least tigerish.

In practical matters, Tiger wasn't much good. He wouldn't fetch the paper or do tricks or bark at the right people. His IQ seemed definitely below par. But when it came to matters of the heart, he could outsmart us all.

He must have memorized the
